GOODBYE ISIDORE; HELLO, LILI

A Hancock County resident gathers supplies Monday at a Red Cross station set up to help victims of Tropical Storm Isidore last week – and of Hurricane Lili this week.

Hundreds of Hancock County residents, hit hard by the floods brought on by Isidore, received some relief from the American Red Cross at stations set up at the Hancock County Civic Center this week. The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. through the week and possibly beyond, with a new storm approaching.

Three Red Cross trucks are also dispensing meals in the Pearlinton area.

On Tuesday, President George Bush declared a major disaster for Mississippi, releasing federal funds to "help individuals and communities recover from Tropical Storm Isidore."

Gov. Ronnie Musgrove had submitted the request for $15.3 million in federal disaster assistance Monday morning. Once the damages in Hancock County have been determined, the county will receive a portion of this money.

Hazardous Waste Cleanup

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER

For the first time this year, white goods, scrap metal and electronics will be accepted at the Hancock County Household Hazardous materials/Waste Collection Event. As an extra added bonus, refrigerators will be accepted with freon units still attached.

So instead of leaving appliances destroyed by Isidore in front of your home, bring them for disposal to the Waveland Kmart on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Appliances will be unloaded for you.

The collection event will also be accepting up to 25 waste tires, aerosols, anti-freeze, lighter fluid, auto and household batteries, bleach, motor oil, paint and thinner, rodent poison, transmission fluid, varnish, water seal, turpentine, cleaners, gasoline, insecticides, and other waste items.

This is a one day opportunity for Hancock county residents to dispose of their household hazardous waste in a proper manner, free of charge. The service is made possible by a 75/25 grant from the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality and put on in conjunction with the Hancock County solid Waste Authority with the assistance of Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

Hancock Civil Defense keeps eye on Hurricane Lili

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

City and county officials met Wednesday at the Hancock County Civil Defense to discuss preparations for Hurricane Lili.

Officials, however, decided to meet again at 4:45 p.m. for another hurricane briefing and to determine preparations for Lili including evacuations, school closings and shelters.

Civil Defense Director Lynette Carbon informed those present about the current status of Lili as of 10 a.m. on Wednesday.

Carbon said Lili was moving toward the Northwest near 15 miles per hour and was expected to continue in this general motion for the next 24 hours.

According to a report from an air force reserve hurricane hunter aircraft, "maximum sustained winds had increased to near 120 miles per hour ... with higher gusts," making Lili "a dangerous Category 3 hurricane on the Saffir-Simpson Hurricane Scale."

Additional strengthening was possible during the next 24 hours.

Other information about Hurricane Lili:

- A tropical storm warning remains in effect from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the Alabama/Florida border.

- The center of the hurricane was located near latitude 24.8 North, longitude 88.9 West, or about 365 miles south-southeast of New Orleans.

- Hurricane force winds extend outward up to 45 miles from the center and tropical storm force winds extend outward up to 185 miles.

- The latest minimum central pressure reported by the hurricane hunter was 953 MB, 28.14 inches.

- A storm surge of 8 to 12 feet above normal tide levels was likely near and to the east of where the center crosses the Coast; this surge could spread well inland across the low lying areas of the hurricane warning area.

- Rainfall accumulations of 6 to 10 inches were possible along the track of Lili.

Before press time yesterday, both Hancock and Bay-Waveland school officials anticipated classes would be in session today.

need."

On Monday morning, the center was full. Most had lost a lot in the floods. Many, who decided to ride out the storm, were trapped inside flooded homes.

Valerie and Tony Viescas, who live on the canals off of Blue Meadow Rd. in Bay St. Louis lost just about everything. Water entered their trailer and came almost to the tops of the beds. Valerie's car also flooded.

Valerie stayed with her mother, taking some of the couples' clothing, the television and the pets. Tony remained in the trailer for the storm, and stacked a few things on the bed when waters rose.

"But all my pictures were stored in boxes on the closet floor," said Valerie. "When waters rose, Tony tried to bring a little humor into the situation and cast his fishing rod from his perch on the bed."

Like many, the couple had no insurance. Still faced with land payments, they don't know how they could afford to rent a new place.

Kimberly and John Lufich took their kids to their grandmother's house and returned to their Shoreline Park home to wait out the storm. They moved all their cars except one antique car with no brakes, but lost most of their clothes, furniture, appliances and other household effects.

"The water rose very slowly until about 4:30 a.m. (Wednesday night)," John said. "Then at about 4:45 the tidal surge came through and within an hour we were flooded. We decided to walk out then and the water was up to our chests."

The couple said they would try to find a place to rent.

Terry Warren, who came with a group of people who said they were from Harbor Estates, said the water at his home was about four feet deep with about a foot inside the house. The family evacuated Wednesday night but left behind everything.

"We didn't move anything out ahead of time," said Warren. "We didn't expect the water ... it had never flooded in the seven years that I've lived there, maybe some water in the yard, but not like that."

Warren said that his sister, who lived closer to the Jourdan River in a raised house had water about a foot from coming into her home.

Laurie Houston of Shoreline Park wasn't at her house when four feet of water covered her property during the storm. She had gone to Slidell to pick up a car. "So at least I have a car and my children are safe," said Houston.

Eugene Joseph Johnson stayed with his family of seven at their Shoreline Park home. The family lost possessions in some storage sheds and all their vehicles.

"I looked out about 3 a.m. and the water was high, but not too bad," Johnson said. "About 4 a.m. I heard the dogs barking and went outside and the vehicles were under water. Within two hours the water was six inches from our door ... it was like being in a bowl and someone just filled it with water ... very fast."

Johnson said the family spent the next day traveling back and forth from his house to his son's house by boat and were able to get out on Friday.

"People don't understand about evacuations," said Civil Defense Director Lynette Carbon. "You have to use your common sense and leave if you are in an area in danger of flooding. Once the storm arrives it is too late."

"Don't count on being rescued after the storm is in full force."

Carbon urges residents to be aware of storm conditions with the approaching hurricane, Lili, and take precautions well ahead of time. Leave all low lying areas or areas near water, early.

"Plan to save the things that were not lost in Isidore," she said. "Check with local news media. Don't depend on New Orleans stations to have the latest local bulletins."

"If you go to shelters, please be courteous and remember that it is mostly volunteers who man the shelters. They are doing the best they can."

Carbon said things went as well as they did last week with Isidore because of the united effort of local officials, police and fire departments, the national guard, school district personnel, the Department of Human Resources, local media and volunteers.

"This is a small department and we couldn't do what we do without the concerted effort of a lot of people," Carbon said. "I just want to thank them all for their efforts."

designated counties to receive individual assistance, public assistance and hazard mitigation.

With these funds available, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors held an open bid early Wednesday morning for local contractors to clean up debris left by Isidore.

During the board's meeting Tuesday night, supervisors voted to solicit and obtain rubbish and trash haulers to assist the county in cleaning up the streets and right-of-ways before Hurricane Lili hit, the Coast.

Immediately following the Wednesday morning meeting, the lowest bidders set the cleaning process in motion in preparation for Lili. Below are the areas the contractors were responsible for, the contractors with the lowest bids and the amount of the bid:

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

This for sure is a time when homeowners who may have had some damages from the recent storm to be extremely careful of SCAM artists. They seem to flock to disaster areas when folks are itching to have repairs made, etc.

I suggest if you have to hire someone to do some work for you to check their references and make sure they are licensed and bonded.

Over the years I have heard lots of horror stories about folks being ripped off following a storm.

Law enforcement agencies all recommend that property owners do a thorough check on persons they hire even if there is no disaster in the area.

There is always someone out there trying to make a fast buck.

A very important Household Hazardous Materials/Waste Collection is set to take place Saturday, October 5, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Waveland Kmart parking lot, U.S. Highways 90 and 603.

This is a free collection, and even used electronics will be accepted, along with refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, etc.

Other items are aerosols, all-purpose cleaners, ammonia, anti-freeze, automobile cleaner, automobile batteries, brake fluid, chlorine bleach, pesticides, paints, toilet bowl cleaner, varnish, turpentine, tile cleaner, rubber cement, paint thinner, etc.

During this special collection waste tires will be accepted with a limit of 25 per person. I have been told the waste tires will be recycled.

Household hazardous waste is unused or leftover products containing toxic chemicals. Any product labeled caution, poisonous, toxic, flammable, or corrosive is considered a household hazardous waste.

Things which will not be accepted are compressed gas cylinders, explosive or radioactive materials.

This special collection is a community service funded by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality in cooperation with the Hancock County Solid Waste District with assistance from the Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

It is always good to get away on a vacation, but when at home there is a threat from a storm, it changes your feeling very fast.

This past week Jane and I were on a cruise along the New England Coast and Canada, and we have made up our minds not to take vacations anymore during the months of August and September.

We were also on a cruise when Hurricane George struck several years ago.

When you are far away from home, it is very hard to get the real news on a hurricane. We did have CNN on the ship, but the reports were very brief.

Anyway, other than worrying about the storm, we did have a great time. Once again we enjoyed a good Bar Harbor lobster.

In our group there were 48 members of the Hancock Bank Classic Club, and it was great to get together with some folks we have traveled with before.

On our way home from the Golden Princess to the airport, our bus driver, who knew New York from one end to the other, was able to give us a real tour of the city.

The most touching time was when we visited Ground Zero and were only a few feet from the hole where once stood the Twin

Vernon Pearson is a real piece of work

All of us in our water aerobics exercise class get a big hoot out of seeing lanky old Vern Pearson climb out of the swimming pool. He pauses momentarily and cutely waggles his behind as the rest of us flap our elbows and go "quack, quack, quack."

When I say old Vern, I mean OLD. Come Nov. 4, Vernon Pearson, our faithful water aerobics exercise partner, amazingly, will turn 97. Like born in 1905.

"I've got rhythm," the nonagenarian explains of his impromptu shimmy that delights the mostly female members of our not-so-young water exercise group sponsored by the Arthritis Foundation at the Courthouse Fitness center in North Jackson.

In his younger days in the Chicago area, Vern was a pretty fair amateur actor on the stage ("never professional," he says) and some of that talent evidently has stuck.

But Vern's shimmy on the swimming pool ladder worries his "keeper," Richard Baltz, a retired Millsaps economics professor, who is afraid his charge could lose his balance. Baltz has been looking after his elderly friend since they met in the Courthouse swimming pool in the early 1990s.

Five years ago, Baltz helped Vern settle into The Orchard assisted living facility in Ridgeland and convinced him because of his failing eyesight to get rid of his car. No longer does Vern, who has no blood kin, kid about that The Orchard is his "prison."

As he nears age 97, Vern hardly ever misses our water exercise regimen, putting to shame the rest of us who often find some excuse - the weather, a headache, or some other ache-to skip class.

Though he is uncannily mentally alert for his age, (and has some radically independent views we'll mention later) Vern rarely does any talking during class, but when he does, it's something clever.

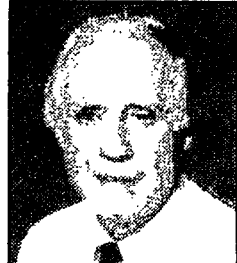

He wouldn't have to say a word, however, to endear himself to us. His mere presence serves as a remarkable inspiration for us-or anyone else - to pick up our tired, even arthritic bones, and exercise them.

Exercise, he insists, "is the key to healthy living. Age is a matter of the mind if you don't mind, it doesn't matter." It's only recently that Vern has begun to take any pills or medicine.

Baltz thinks Vern's longevity also has something to do with his genes, his Nordic stock. Both of Vern's parents had come to the States from Sweden before he was born.

Vern doesn't lay down any prescriptions other than regular exercise for long life. None of the usual bromides such as a few shots of bourbon each day, or complete abstention from tobacco.

Vern admits he has "tasted" a little wine in his day but nothing big. And while no cigarette smoker, he used to enjoy a cigar on occasions. But he's not about to

Helpful neighbors define 'community action'

To the Editor:
We loved our pier and spent the last two years enjoying it as much as possible with grandchildren, family and friends.

It was an influential factor in our decision to buy our home on Aiken Road and become permanent residents of Waveland.

We had been summer-home owners in the area for over 30 years.

Our last visitor to the "Pier" was Isidore, who loved it so much that, he took some with him.

At 4:30 a.m., Bob woke me with the good and bad news. The pier was still there, but it was now located at the corner of Whispering Pines and also at the far side of Mr. Villere's property.

More boards were scattered for blocks. The gate that I had wanted to replace ever since it was vandalized a couple of months ago, was standing alone in all its glory. I hope it's not waiting for a date with Lili.

As soon as we began the recovery process the morning after, we were joined by so many people offering their services. A young man, I think his name was Josh Greer, stopped his truck and walked over with hammer in hand ready to assist us.

Our wonderful Aiken Road Gang, young Joe and his friend, John K., Bruce, Roberto, Bill, and Dawn, all contributed to our efforts.

Sandy Villere rode Bob all over his area recovering wood and other items from the pier. Lucien Gex helped out, along with our always dependable son, Bobby and Bob's brother, David.

Dr. Frank Conaway and his wife Pauline supplied their truck and lots of manual labor to transport the wood back to our house.

Last but not least, our youngest and strongest helper, Joshua Conaway, 6 years old, carrying two boards at once, demonstrating his super strength. I wish I had taken his photo to include with this letter.

Most of the lumber was recovered and will be a big help in rebuilding.

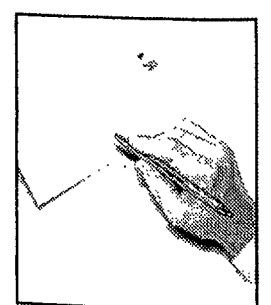

Mr. La Violette in his column "A view from the porch" often refers to the pier as Penny's Pier. It has been Jeannie's and Bob's Pier for over two years now, but in reality it is "Caring Friends Pier."

Minor -- Old Vern

preach to others to stay completely away from alcohol or smoking.

You'd think maybe he'd formerly been a physical fitness nut but you'd be wrong. Tennis and golf, and a bit of jogging and swimming in between, that's all he's done over the years, outside of playing football (at six feet tall, one of the big kids) in high school in Geneva, Ill.

Geneva, then a town of about 3,000 people, 22 miles outside Chicago, is where Vern grew up. But most of his life was spent in Chicago, where his family had moved during his last year in high school, leaving him to board with relatives so he could graduate with his class.

No chance to go to college, he went to work right out of high school. Still a teenager, the lanky Swede landed a job in the Chicago office of Illinois Bell Telephone (crank-style telephones then were "high tech") and years later wound up handling public relations and personnel for the company before retiring at age 62.

Along the way, Vern had one of the shortest active duty careers on record with the U.S. Navy. When World War II began he signed up — mind you at age 36. While going through induction physicals he contracted pneumonia and after six weeks the Navy sent him home and told him "don't come back."

A late-life marriage in Chicago lasted only about three years with no children. A second marriage after his telephone company retirement is what brought him to Mississippi in the latter 1970s.

He married a woman he met in Chicago who formerly lived in Columbia and still owned a home there. She persuaded Verne to move with her back to Columbia far from his Yankee roots. Immediately Marion Countians recognized Vern's unusual talent as a personable organizer and leader.

Before long he was being honored for his service as president of the Marion County Chamber of Commerce and recognized nationally for his service to Rotary International. But, as he says, his marriage to the Columbia lady "didn't work out." Deciding to stay in the South, he came to Jackson and plans to stay here.

Reared in a strict Methodist family, years ago his liberal religious beliefs led him to become a Unitarian Universalist and personally break with what he calls "ancient doctrines and myths" and to disbelieve that there is a Heaven or a Hell.

In a 1989 personal manifesto of his beliefs he wrote "I believe that death is the end of mind and body, period (and that) whatever influence a person might have on others, good or bad, will be carried forever."

He now attends services with Jackson's Unitarian Universalist congregation. A fellow Unitarian, Dr. Steve Bollinger, a retired former clinical psychology professor at Jackson State and University Medical schools, in recent months has given Richard Baltz relief in looking after Vern and getting him back and forth to the water aerobics class.

Vern is a staunch pacifist, quickly telling you he is against war, and he is particularly concerned right now about the direction of the Bush Administration towards war with Iraq. "I think we can still negotiate with Saddam Hussein...I see no reason we can't work it out without going to the extreme of war," he said.

"I'm a liberal by nature, in both economics and politics," the ninety-plus guy tells me over lunch at The Orchard. "I campaigned for Franklin D. Roosevelt," he said, adding: "I don't remember ever voting for a Republican at any time."

Because of macro-degeneration in his right eye, he is able to read very little (something he always loved to do) and has to settle for watching CNN on television for most of his news.

He loves jazz and classical music as well ("I used to get tickets to practically every concert that came to Chicago") and once had a good collection of records. "But in my moves around they got away from me."

Off the top of his head he remembers two of his favorite tunes are "Morning Is Broken," and "Up A Lazy River." Nonetheless, Vern can be seen in the swimming pool keeping time to the mostly 1940s and 1950s tunes Fred Price, our leader, puts on during our Arthritis Range of Motion class.

As the saying goes, Vernon Pearson is a piece of work. A real one, I mean.

We could see several buildings on which repairs had not been completed yet, and the roadway we were on had been covered with debris and bodies of many of the 3,000 who died that day.

Something I did not realize was that Halifax was the port where all the survivors of the Titanic were brought in after the ship sunk, in addition to the bodies recovered from the tragedy.

Three cemeteries in Halifax contain about three quarters of the bodies recovered, and the balance were shipped elsewhere.

There is a marine museum in Halifax, and a section of it is devoted to the Titanic, which was very interesting. Overall we did have a great time, and the entertainment was great on the Golden Princess.

We are now looking forward to our next vacation.

Golf donation

After reading an ad in a local newspaper for "free junior golf equipment," Hancock School District Parent Coordinator Jeanne Brooks contacted Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy Elementary physical education teacher Billy Thomas (pictured right). Brooks and Thomas traveled to meet Charles Jackson (pictured left) who had previously worked with youths in another area. Jackson donated golf equipment, including two complete sets of junior clubs and bags; two bags of additional woods, wedges, and irons; a bucket of balls; and several golfing instructional videos. This equipment will be used to enhance the physical education programs at Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy Elementary that teach basic skills and expand to include instructional activities such as volleyball, ping pong, and golf.

Hancock County School District remembers Sept. 11 in ceremonies

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock County School District remembered the events of September 11 by hosting a variety of events at each school location.

Charles B. Murphy in Pearlinton held an early morning "United We Stand" celebration at the flagpole. Students read poetry, and faculty, parents, and community members were on hand to sing patriotic songs.

East Hancock Elementary in Kiln also hosted an event complete with the Hancock High JROTC, students reciting poetry, the singing of America the Beautiful, and observance of a moment of silence.

Students at Hancock North Central Elementary in Kiln honored police officers, firefighters, emergency medical personnel and the military by dressing in the colors of red, white and blue.

Second grade students sang and completed sign language to God Bless America, and 5th graders wrote thank-you letters to the men and women who serve our country.

During an afternoon ceremony, students at Gulfview Elementary in Lakeshore sang a variety of patriotic songs by grade level, others recited poetry, and several honored police and fire workers by wearing hand-made hats and badges.

During the day at Hancock Middle School, the news team aired a special presentation with a JROTC officer leading the Pledge of Allegiance, and the Student Council read stories of the victims.

Hancock High School students and faculty gathered in the gym to see the JROTC present the colors and to hear the life stories of seven of the victims of the September 11 tragedy.

A candle was lit in the memory of each of the seven people spoken about as the Hancock High marching band played patriotic tunes.

Three students, Danny Ray Necaise, Trevin Burge, and Marcus Ladner played guitar and sang Amazing Grace and Where Were You When the World Stopped Turning.

The program ended with a slide show portraying America's unity and spirit following the events of September 11.

'Don't Worry, Be Happy,' theme for MPACT's enrollment campaign

State Treasurer Marshall Bennett wants to see smiles on the faces of Mississippi's parents when it's time to enroll their children in college.

As tuition has continued to rise over the years, families have found it increasingly more difficult to smile when the tuition check was due. However, about five years ago with the advent of the first of Mississippi's Section 529 plans, the Mississippi Prepaid Affordable College Savings plan, parents of the college-bound could finally breathe a sigh of relief. "Don't Worry, Be Happy" seemed the appropriate message for the 2002 campaign.

One reason for a more carefree attitude about paying college tuition comes from the fact that MPACT offers its enrollees the ability to lock in today's tuition rates and the ability to offset future tuition hikes without creating debt.

Another reason to smile about MPACT lies in the fact that full payment of tuition and mandatory fees at any public institution of higher learning in the state of Mississippi is guaranteed.

The guarantee stands regardless of the difference in tuition costs from the time one purchases the plan and the time that the enrollee actually attends college.

With the limited enrollment period from Sept. 1 through November 30, wise parents will begin reviewing the Enrollees can use the MPACT plan at any accredited college or university, in state or out-of-state, public or private.

However, for out-of-state institutions, payments will be based on average tuition and fee costs at Mississippi's public institutions in the year of attendance.

Though thousands of Mississippians have taken advantage of MPACT and reaped its savings and tax benefits, many parents and grandparents have yet to investigate the program's many advantages.

Bennett encourages parents to be mindful about getting to the business of planning early for the major expenses involved in a college education. Enrolling in MPACT can eliminate long-term student loans or dependency on insufficient financial aid.

To find out more about the MPACT plan, or to obtain an application and a full Disclosure Booklet, call the College Savings Mississippi office toll free at 1-800-987-4450 or visit www.collegesavingsmississippi.com.

Stennis lab helping chart the ocean floor

By Judy Isbell

Helping to chart the future of the University of Southern Mississippi at the Stennis Space Center is a unique research operation within the university's Department of Marine Science.

USM's Hydrographic Science Research Center at Stennis houses the Electronic Chart Display and Information Systems (ECDIS) Laboratory that provides research support to government and commercial clients for information related to ocean navigation, the ocean floor and ocean processes.

It is part of a $3 million research center created through a partnership between the university and the U.S. Navy to develop and broaden applications for ocean mapping and navigation technology.

The USM ECDIS lab conducts research, development, testing and evaluation of electronic charting systems that guide military and commercial sea-going vessels.

It is in this room - with eight high-end networked computers and one large plasma display - that students, researchers and faculty serve as an information clearinghouse and demonstration center for electronic charting systems used by United States and foreign military and commercial agencies.

The lab boasts an inventory of 15 electronic charting applications, including the only three systems certified by the U.S. Department of Defense.

"We are the honest broker on charting software," said Darrell Smith, retired naval officer and research scientist who, with more than 24 years in the U.S. Navy and additional industry experience in hydrography and geodesy, directs the day-to-day operations of the lab.

"We evaluate commercial and government-developed systems," he said. "Then we provide feedback to stakeholders on what works and what doesn't. We also provide information on where we see opportunities for improvement."

With the advent of more advanced systems of gathering underwater data, the software used to process that data into readable ocean charts also has had to evolve.

"The modern hydrographic chart is certainly a moving target," Smith said. "In the last 50 years, hydrography has moved from dropping lead lines into the water to gauge depth, to visualizing swaths of underwater landscape with multibeam sonar or airborne laser bathymetry systems."

The ECDIS laboratory works closely with the Naval Oceanographic Office located nearby at Stennis. The lab analyzes promising developments for potential integration into NAVOCEANO's operation, pursuing the most applicable possibilities and assisting with transition into the Navy's systems.

A recent focus for researchers working with NAVOCEANO has been fusing higher-resolution data into existing electronic nautical charts, searching for solutions in merging the different data formats of the electronic charts.

Directly linked with USM's hydrographic science academic program, the ECDIS lab serves a distinct educational as well as commercial purpose, as students pursuing a master's degree in hydrographic science get hands-on experi-

Currently, three graduate students are pursuing directed studies through the ECDIS lab.

A division of the College of Marine Sciences, the Department of Marine Science is strategically

The department offers both master's and doctoral degrees in marine science and a master's degree in hydrographic science.

PAMELA THOMAS METZLER
CIRCUIT CLERK

Joan Coleman mayoral candidate, City of W'land

Joan Siekmann Coleman of Waveland announces her candidacy for mayor of Waveland in the Nov. 5 Democratic primary.

She came to Waveland when she was 12 years old, and her love for the city began. Her family acquired property, and she has either visited or resided here ever since.

Some of you may remember her brother, Father Ivan Siekmann, who was ordained in St. Clare Catholic Church July 19, 1976.

Coleman is a graduate of St. Joseph High School, Jackson Miss., and the University of New Orleans, 1966, with a bachelor of science in accounting.

She has worked in both public and private accounting, trained people to use different computer programs, and developed analytical skills for over 30 years.

The last 10 years have been with one international company. She has traveled the entire United States and supervised a staff that maintain the branch division for this corporation in 80 cities. She sets policy, writes procedure manuals and makes sure they are followed. She prepares budgets for the 80 branches and develops review procedures to make sure the budgets are met.

The branches deal directly with the public and Coleman has extensive experience with handling customer requests, solving their problems, and evaluating the performance of the employees in these locations as well as her staff.

She feels that all of this experience gives her the background and knowledge to be the best mayor for Waveland.

She says that her objective way of addressing problems and her analytical ability to determine the different solutions will lead the board of mayor and aldermen to make good decisions for the betterment of your city.

"I will preserve the pristine, precious, quiet way of life that we enjoy, as well as improve our streets and drainage so that we may attract the right kind of new businesses. They will increase our tax base and establish a sound influx of revenue into our city coffers."

"I will establish a long-term plan of development and expansion for the following:

1. for new business on Coleman Ave. and all the city,
2. for improvement of our streets and drainage,
3. to keep down the costs of our utilities
4. to expand the recreation and cultural facilities for use by all citizens."

"Seventeen percent of our citizens are over 62 years of age. They are a vital resource of knowledge and experience in our community. I will sponsor an organization of volunteers to help contact our seniors and organize them into useful, and helpful citizens of Waveland."

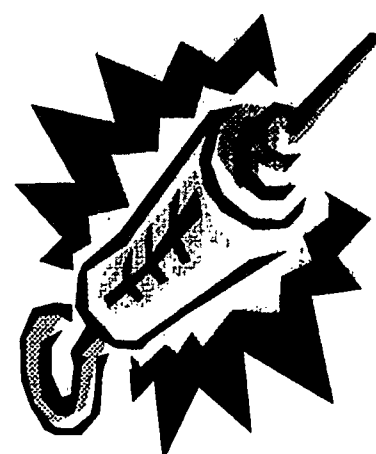

"There are many of us who cannot deal with daily problems that drain our fixed incomes, such as minor repairs to homes, lawn care or shopping. I will also lead volunteerism within our younger community to participate in 'Make a Difference' every day and every month of the year."

permission for a search of the property.

"Brian McCollon, 31, ... was arrested for a vehicle there that appeared to have been stripped down and they also recovered a firearm," Lambert said. "On a follow-up, a second arrest of McCollon was made for possession of stolen property." Fizer - who is handling the investigation - said Tuesday that "Additionally, Wesley Denton, 34, of 9214 Yazoo St., Bay St. Louis, has also been charged with possession of stolen property in the case."

The vehicle, a 1997 Dodge truck, had been reported stolen from Pascagoula, and later from Biloxi. The Mississippi Highway Patrol was notified, Fizer said. MHP officers Ronnie Turan and Joel Wallace have filed three "chop shop" violations against McCollon too, Fizer said. McCollon and Denton possibly face other charges in Jackson County, Fizer added.

Memorial -- nabbed

ages from Tropical Storm Isidore, and Waveland Civic Association volunteers worked Saturday to repair some of the damages, which include the replacement of the timbers from the beds which floated across Beach Boulevard.

Volunteers reported they also covered the roots of several of the shrubs still standing, which included two of the six palms which had been at the site.

In his news release Chief Varnell said, "At approximately 2:03 a.m. Patrol Sgt. Brent Anderson was dispatched to the area of the Veterans Memorial in reference to the theft of some palm trees. Pier Ranger George Souler, III, stated he had observed a person in a vehicle pull up two palm trees and leave the area in an easterly direction."

Varnell continued, "Sgt. Anderson observed a vehicle turning onto Nicholson Avenue fitting the description given by the pier ranger. The vehicle then turned into Sonier Street, then Hoffman Lane, and the driver turned off the lights."

"Anderson observed two palm trees in the back of the vehicle and arrested suspect Richard Daniel Farrell, Jr., 25, 710 Zimmerman Lane, Waveland, and charged him with petit larceny. He was transported to the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility where his bond was set at $1,000," Varnell added.

Varnell said a court date of Oct. 10 has been set for Farrell.

The Veterans Memorial at the head of Coleman Avenue, since its inception has been vandalized several times, and Waveland Police have stepped up patrols because of the vandalism.

Three weeks ago an arrest was made by an alert Waveland patrolman of an 18-year-old, who removed a flag, threw it into a trash barrel, and is awaiting trial in Waveland Municipal Court.

Disgusted with the vandalism at the Veterans Memorial, Varnell in an article in The Echo in June said, "We have had problems with people trying to deface, misuse and abuse the memorial. It is unbelievable, especially after the happenings of 9-11, 2001. The people continue to have disrespect for our country, and the real sad thing is that there are citizens of the USA who continue to disrespect our country."

"The memorial does not belong to anyone in particular, it belongs to all of our citizens near and far. It is truly something to be proud of. I, as a citizen of Waveland, think that the Veterans Memorial is a beautiful addition to our community," Varnell had said.

Victim -- Cure

Following the incident, police had been unable to get a full story from Cure, other than that the burglars were two unidentified males.

Investigators Kenny Hurt, John Luther and Chief Lambert, in addition other investigators and several deputies, have interviewed some 15 to 20 persons thus far, and they are still trying to locate several suspects to be questioned, Barnett said.

Officers feel Cure was beaten with a blunt instrument and said they could not yet determine what is missing from his home.

The sheriff's office received a call from Mr. Cure at 12:50 a.m. on Sept. 15. Deputy Ron Borja arrived at his residence and found Mr. Cure, who appeared to have been badly beaten. Also at the residence was a five-year-old family member of the victim, who was okay, according to Sheriff Steve Garber's initial report.

The sheriff's department is still asking anyone who may have some information, no matter how small, about the burglary and vicious beating to call 467-5101. Garber said all information will be kept confidential.

Gulf Coast Carnival Association offers Mardi Gras float sponsorships

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Gulf Coast Carnival Association, the oldest Mardi Gras organization on the Coast, is offering sponsorships for its 2003 parades in Biloxi.

Don Marie Jr., the association's captain, said businesses and organizations may either provide their own floats or sponsor one of the 21 floats owned by the association.

"These sponsorships are the cornerstone of which the Carnival parades are produced," he said. "Not only is it a good way for businesses to get their names before thousands of people, it's another way of giving back to the community."

Three levels of sponsorships are available: $1,750 for a float without riders; $2,500 for a float with riders, and $3,000 for those with their own floats.

In return, the sponsors get invitations to the parties, receptions and ball leading up to the Mardi Gras parades; reserved seating at the morning and evening parades; doubloons for their float riders; and the opportunity to serve in the Carnival royalty.

"Even though Mardi Gras isn't until March 4," Marie said, "it's not too early to reserve a float. The best time to do it is now."

The Carnival Association has been staging public Mardi Gras parades for more than 90 years. This year, as usual, its parades will roll twice in Biloxi - once in the morning, once in the evening.

For more information or to sponsor a float, call the Carnival office at (228) 435-8806 or inquire by e-mail at gccam@aol.com.

PRCC puts win streak on the line

POPLARVILLE Pearl River Community College's football game with non-division rival Itawamba has been postponed from Thursday until Saturday due to threatening weather from Hurricane Lili.

The game was originally scheduled for 7 p.m. here Thursday in Dobie Holden Stadium.

Saturday's rescheduled kickoff is also set for 7 p.m. Pearl River Community College's Wildcats will put their three-game winning streak on the line when the Itawamba Indians visit Dobie Holden Stadium.

The non-division contest marks the 34th time the two schools have faced off on the gridiron in the series that dates back to 1953. Itawamba, like Pearl River, is under the leadership of a new head coach in 2002 in former Hinds Eagle defensive coordinator Jeff Terrill, who inter-

Pearl River Community College running back Kris Cannon (31) of Pass Christian bursts for a couple of his career-high 133 yards against Hinds Saturday in Raymond in the Wildcats' stunning 31-22 South Division victory over the previously-undefeated and nationally-ranked Eagles. Cannon also snagged four passes for an additional 58 yards to finish the afternoon with 191 all-purpose yards — also a career high. Blocking for Cannon, a sophomore who prepped at St. Stanislaus, are wide receiver Justin Herring (20) of Pearl River Central, center Jeremy Burge (64) of Forrest County AHS, and Brett Murdock (rear) of Hernando. SBA disaster loans for homeowners, renters and businesses

Homeowners, renters, landlords, and business owners located in Amite, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River, Pike, and Stone Counties are now eligible to apply for low-interest disaster loan assistance from the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA), Disaster Assistance Program. President Bush declared these counties a major disaster area as a result of damages caused by Tropical Storm Isidore that began on September 23, 2002, according to the SBA Disaster Area Director Michael C. Allen.

Because the SBA Disaster Assistance Program is the primary form of federal assistance to those affected by a disaster, most homeowners, renters, and all business owners will be referred directly to the SBA for low interest disaster loans when they register for assistance.

Allen warns that homeowners should not automatically turn over their insurance settlement check to their mortgage holder to pay down their mortgage. Doing this without a written demand letter from the mortgage holder will have a significant negative impact on their ability to get low-interest disaster loan assistance from the SBA to repair their damaged property.

SBA offers loans of up to $200,000 to repair disaster damaged homes. Homeowners, and renters are eligible for up to $40,000 to replace personal property. Loans to businesses and non-profit organizations of up to $1.5 million are also available to repair damage to real estate, machinery and equipment, inventory, etc., and for leasehold improvements. A business need not have physical damage to be eligible for economic injury assistance. Interest rates for homeowners and renters can be as low as 3.312 percent and 3.50 percent for businesses.

Loan terms on all loans can be up to 30 years. Actual loan amounts and terms are set by SBA and are based on each applicant's financial condition.

Disaster victims are reminded that to be considered for all forms of disaster assistance, including SBA's disaster loans, they must first call the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) at 1-800-

621-FEMA (3362). This one call will get people referred to the agency that can best help with their disaster-related needs. Even if you had some insurance, it is important that you register for this assistance. The application deadline for SBA physical damage loan assistance is December 2, 2002; the deadline for economic injury applications is July 1, 2003.

Blood Center: Isidore sets supply back

THE SEA COAST ECHO

In the wake of Tropical Storm Isidore, representatives from The Blood Center have issued a community-wide appeal for blood donors of all types.

Due to severe weather conditions, blood drives were cancelled and donor centers were closed causing a drop in the community blood supply.

And with the possible threat of Lili advancing this way, the situation could worsen.

"Extreme weather brings with it a serious threat to our local blood supply. Collections were set back for a full two days, which caused a drop in our inventory levels," said Vice President of Hospital and Community Resources Billy Weales.

"We're encouraging donors of all blood types to donate now in order to help restore the blood supply to safe levels, especially with Lili looming in the Gulf."

To adequately supply our community, The Blood Center tries to keep a three-day supply of 1200-1400 pints of blood on the shelf. In order to do so, The Blood Center must collect between 300 to 350 pints of blood a day in our community.

As a non-profit community service organization, The Blood Center depends on the generosity of volunteer blood donors to help provide the more than 40 hospitals in South Louisiana and the Mississippi Gulf Coast they supply with blood and blood components needed for area patients.

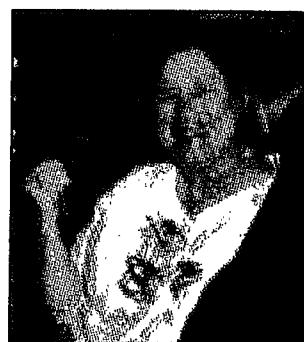

Any healthy individual, at least 17 years old and weighing more than 110 pounds is eligible to donate.

Please call 1-800-86-BLOOD or visit www.the-bloodcenter.org for donor center hours and locations nearest you.

Celestine Labat named grand marshal of first annual St. Rose parade

BY MYRON LABAT, SR.

Celestine Labat is affectionately known as "Miss Teenie" by most, or "Aunt Teenie" by her relatives. She was born November 15, 1898 to Joseph and Lenora Labat, and this year will celebrate 104 years of life.

While the overwhelming majority of those years were spent as a parishioner of St. Rose de Lima, Aunt Teenie has also spent time wisely in other places.

"Aunt Teenie" spent her high school years as a boarding student in Indiana. She earned a bachelor of science degree from Howard University in Washington, D.C. and a master of science degree from the University of Southern California.

She keeps her mind sharp by answering the questions from the TV show Jeopardy and by working crossword puzzles to completion.

During a recent conversation with Aunt Teenie, she not only educated me on the history of Bay St. Louis; she also proceeded to name, in order, all of my eight sisters and each of their children! Her mind is incredibly sharp. Celestine and the entire Labat family of Bay St. Louis have been an integral part of the history of St. Rose Parish since its inception.

Her father, Joseph "Papa Joe" Labat, was the general contractor who built the St. Rose Church building, rectory, and school building in 1926. The church was built to accommodate African-American Catholics of the area who were not welcomed at neighboring Catholic churches.

St. Rose Church was dedicated on November 14, 1926. Among those baptized and confirmed on this day by Bishop Gerow were Aunt Teenie's brother and my grandfather, Sumner Labat; Alfred Raboteau, Jr.; Ernst Dorsey, Catherine Gilbert, Margaret Farve, Monroe Singleton, and Joseph Fairconnetue.

Throughout its history, St. Rose Parish has utilized its parish fair as both a major fund-raising event and as a homecoming event for those living in other locations. We trust that this year's Fair Parade will add to that rich tradition.

Anyone who has been associated with St. Rose for any length of time knows and loves Aunt Teenie. And so it is with great pride that St. Rose Parish names Celestine Labat "Grand Marshal" of its First Annual Fair Parade.

How fitting it is for someone who embodies the living history of this faith community to lead St. Rose de Lima Parish into the future.

Some of the lovely ladies from "Rejoicing With Style: A Gospel & Fashion Affair," which took place Sunday at Casino Magic Bay Tower Hotel's Cypress Cove Ballroom.

Rocks reign as 2002 county champs; Hoda & Stovall earn top honors

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws and the Bay High Tigers renewed their annual rivalry last Friday night with the Rocks capturing a 35-7 win over the Tigers in between the walls. The win gave the Rocks the title of Hancock County champions for 2002.

The Hancock Hawks lost a squeaker to Petal 21-20 while Pass Christian held on for a 16-12 win over the Sumrall Bobcats.

The Rocks increased their narrow lead in the annual series with Bay High to 19-16 with the win on Friday night. The annual game between the two Bay St. Louis schools first played back in 1948 and was resumed in 1968.

The Rocks and the Tigers battled five turnovers to start the game and then settled in for a hard-hitting contest. Frederick Mallini started the scoring for SSC when he stripped the ball loose and scored from four yards out.

Matt Hoda scored twice for the Rocks on runs of 22 yards and one yard. Gabe Willis broke free for a 26-yard Rock touchdown and Tim Kulikowski hit Ashton Wright for a 24-yard score. Michael Kivlan was 5-for-5 on PATs.

Monroe Jordan scored on a 16-yard run for the Tigers in the first quarter before leaving the game later with an injury.

Defensively, P.K. Keys led the Tigers with 12 total tackles. The Rocks were led by Lee Klein and Kit Stovall with 11 tackles each.

Bay High will travel to Forrest County Agricultural High School in a non-division game this Friday while SSC will be on the road to face division foe Gautier.

Hancock fell to 3-2 overall and 0-1 in the division with their 21-20 loss to the Petal Panthers. This was the fourth one-point decision for the Hawks this season.

Hawk quarterback Brandon Necaise threw for 149 yards and one touchdown in the loss. Myron Fairley had 94 yards receiving on the night.

The Hawks' first score came on a 16-yard pass from Necaise to Steven Dauenhauer. Ricky Underwood added a one-yard dive in the second quarter followed by Ervin Jackson's two-point conversion that capped a 12-play drive which covered 72 yards.

The final score of the game for Hancock came on a two-yard plunge by Jackson. The PAT missed which would have tied the game for Hancock.

Donald Hains led the Hawks on defense with nine tackles. This Friday the Hawks will tangle with #1-ranked Wayne County and quarterback Akeem Loftin.

Pass Christian used a pair of touchdowns and two-point conversions by Maurice Hardnett to hold the Bobcats of Sumrall at bay on Friday night.

This Friday the Pirates will host the Vancleave Bulldogs in a division contest. The Offensive Player of the Week for Week #5 is SSC's fullback Matt Hoda. Hoda punished the Tiger defense for 70 yards on 11 carries and two touchdowns.

The Defensive Player of the Week for Week #5 is SSC's Kit Stovall. Stovall manned the defensive end position for the Rocks and recorded 11 total tackles, two sacks, and one fumble recovery. All games this week are set for 7:30 pm kickoff. See you at the game!

St. Rose Doubles Championship

The 20th annual St. Rose de Lima Tennis Tournament was held this past weekend at the Abbey Road Athletic Club in Pass Christian. Competitors from across the Coast vied for championships in five doubles divisions.

Now one of the premier doubles events in South Mississippi, the St. Rose de Lima championships had their beginnings in 1982 as a small church fundraiser held on the tennis courts of St. Stanislaus College.

As interest grew and the level of competition increased, the tournament needed to find a community sponsor with more extensive facilities.

For the last several years Abbey Road Athletic Club donated both its rubico clay tennis complex and the support of its members to host the championships.

This year's champions include:

Men's "A" Flight:
1st Place: Myron Labat Sr. and Myron Labat Jr.

2nd Place: Maurice Singleton and Kevin Verrett

Women's "A" Flight:
1st Place: Julie West and Nancy Storey

Divorce Open assists Hancock High senior in game of golf

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Letisha Shiyon, a senior at Hancock High School, was the recipient of new golf equipment after an invitational tournament held recently at the Diamondhead Pine Course.

Shiyon, a four-year basketball standout for the Lady Hawks, is making a run at the game of golf this spring. Each year a student at Hancock is assisted in the game of golf following the Divorce Open in Diamondhead.

The Divorce Open puts husband and wife on the same team in an 18-hole tournament that follows the original "Scotch Twosome" format of alternate shot.

The organizers of this year's open were Ralph and Vivian Strader.

Shiyon's other activities include Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Health Occupations Students of America, Students Against Drunk Driving, and 2002 Homecoming Maid.

Hancock alumnus and head golf coach Keene Golding stated, "This is just another example of the support that Diamondhead and its members give to youth golf."

Fosse comes to Beau Rivage for 16 performances

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Fosse, the Tony Award-winning hit musical highlighting the work of legendary dancer, choreographer and director Bob Fosse, comes to Beau Rivage Oct. 2-Oct. 13 for 16 performances only.

Fosse's style revolutionized the musical theater with the Broadway hits Sweet Charity, Chicago, Dancin', and the films Cabaret and All That Jazz.

Long-time Fosse stars Gwen Verdon and Ann Reinking came together to recreate Bob Fosse's groundbreaking work. An extraordinary talented cast of 24 performers and eight musicians bring Broadway's all-time best choreography to life in Fosse.

In 1973, Bob Fosse became the first director in history to win the Oscar, Tony and Emmy award in a single year for the film version of Cabaret, the Broadway musical Pippin and the television special "Liza with a Z."

His work on Broadway, for which he won nine Tony Awards, includes The Pajama Game, Redhead, Little Me, Sweet Charity, Chicago, Dancin', Damn Yankees, Big Deal, New Girl In Town and How to Succeed In Business Without Really Trying. His film work includes the Lenny, All That Jazz and direction of Sweet Charity, Star 80, and the choreography for My Sister Eileen, The Little Prince, The Pajama Game and Damn Yankees.

Fosse runs 90 minutes and includes rarely seen dance and musical numbers from the choreographer's earliest works, as well as many numbers from films and television shows that have never before been seen on stage.

The production also showcases classic Fosse dance numbers like "Steam Heat," "Big Spender," "Bye Bye Blackbird," "Rich Man's Frug," and "Sing, Sing, Sing."

Tickets are $34.95 plus tax. Call 228-386-7777 or 888-566-7469 for show times and reservations. Room packages are available starting at $85 per person. For more info, visit Beau Rivage's website at www.beaurivage.com or go to www.FosseTheMusical.com.

Casual elegance awaits at Beau Rivage Resort & Casino, a wholly owned resort by MGM MIRAGE on the Mississippi Gulf Coast in Biloxi. French for "beautiful shore."

James Brown comes to Casino Magic

EXTRA SPECIAL

James Brown, the self-proclaimed "Godfather of Soul," will return to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Saturday, October 5 at 9 p.m. Tickets start at $29.95, $34.95 and $39.95 and are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5, or at any Ticketmaster location.

Over a 40-year period, James Brown amassed an amazing total of 98 entries on Billboard's top 40 R&B singles charts, a record unsurpassed by any other artist.

Seventeen of those hits reached number one, a feat topped only by Stevie Wonder and Louis Jordan, and equaled only by Aretha Franklin.

Brown's rise from juvenile delinquent to Soul Brother Number One is among the great modern day American success stories. Brown grew up in Augusta, Georgia, where he did a little of everything: picked cotton, shined shoes, danced, and served time for armed robbery. Brown boxed and played pro baseball before an injury made him turn to music. After dabbling in gospel, he renamed his group, from the Swanees to the Famous Flames. The group's local popularity attracted the attention of Federal Records, which signed them to a contract in 1956. Their first record, "Please Please Please," did well, and "Try Me" topped the rhythm-and-blues charts in 1958.

As his band's fame spread beyond Georgia, Brown became ambitious. He staged elaborate dances, formed the James Brown Revue, and created a Carnival atmosphere at his live shows. An emcee worked the crowd into a frenzy before the singer came onstage, and Brown allegedly lost seven pounds each night through dancing. Soon he had a back-up band (the J.B.s) in addition to the Flames, who were largely a vocal group.

Brown scored his first Top 10 pop single in 1965 with "Papa's Got A Brand

James Brown

New Bag," and the hits kept coming for the next decade, one after another at an unheard-of rate. He gradually phased out the Flames, and the gospel and blues structure of his early records gave way to open-ended vamps that emphasized his rhythmically riveting sandpaper vocals and the complex funk syncopations of his band. His innovations during this period had a profound influence on popular music styles around the world, including funk, rock, Afro-pop, disco and eventually rap.

James Brown's status as "The Godfather Of Soul" remains undiminished. Indeed, he has picked up a new generation of fans who have become familiar with his funk grooves through their frequent use as samples on rap records. A charter member of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, Brown added to his collections of accolades when he received a special lifetime achievement Grammy Award in 1992. As he enters his fifth decade in music, Brown remains an inspirational performer who has influenced countless younger musicians.

Don't miss James Brown at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, Saturday, October 5 at 9 p.m. Must be 21 to attend.
